Missouri.

The New York World attempts, after its usual fashion, to make a little political capital out of some recent local disturbances in the State of Missouri. Its remarks display so much ignorance and malice that we are tempted to notice them seriatim. It commences:—

"The State of Missouri is the only State in the Union in which the presence of the General Commanding-in-Chief of the American army is now imperatively required, to preserve society from resolving itself into a chaos of primal barbarism."

This is false. General Grant is no more needed in Missouri for the purpose indicated than he is in Pennsylvania. The State Government is perfectly able to attend to its own affairs, without any outside interference.

"That State was preserved to the Union during the whole of the civil war. It is now governed by a radical State Government, elected on the strictest principles of disfranchisement for 'Rebels' and 'other disloyal persons.'"

The implied assertion in this extract, that Missouri is now governed by a different set of men from those who preserved it to the Union during the war, is false. The radicals saved Missouri from secession, and saved it to the Union. The present State Government was elected in 1864, and by the same vote that gave Mr. Lincoln his splendid majority in that State.

"All the theories which Thad. Stevens and his followers clamor to see applied to the 'lately Rebel States' of the South are asserted in Missouri, and have been asserted there by the whole force of the local authority ever since the surrender of General Lee."

This is not true. Neither the policy of confiscation nor of universal suffrage has been applied in Missouri.

"The very preaching of the Gospel of Christ, save under a special license from the Bishops at Washington and St. Louis, has been made a punishable offense, and has been repeatedly punished, as such, in the State of Missouri."

This is not true. No license is required, but preachers, like school teachers, lawyers, and other professional men, are required to take the oath of loyalty.

"And what are the results? That to-day Missouri is ruled, so far as Missouri is ruled at all, by the sword; that the country is daily startled by telegrams from Missouri pressing an immediate outbreak there of the most terrible form of civil strife—a civil war of localities and communities—of town against town, of neighborhood against neighborhood. We need appeal only to the columns of the radical press for evidence to prove that in no State of the Union, from Maine to Texas, is society so thoroughly disordered, that in none are life and property so unsafe, as in Missouri to-day."

This is mere exaggeration. The State of Missouri generally is in a quiet, orderly, and prosperous condition. It is only in those localities that were Rebel and guerilla strongholds during the war that any difficulty is experienced. Jackson county and Lafayette county, in which the Governor has recently declared martial law, were the hotbeds of border ruffianism in the days of the Kansas struggle. They were the haunts of Rebel bushwhackers during the war, and give the general Government more trouble than any other territory of equal size in the Union.

These Rebels who are making trouble there are the remnants of Quantrell's and Yager's and Tod's bands of guerillas, that perpetrated the horrible Lawrence massacre, and so many other outrages on the Border during the war. They have kept up a quasi organization ever since the war closed, and are nothing more nor less than mere robbers and cutthroats.

If the radical State authorities of Missouri would consent to allow these Rebel murderers to perpetrate their outrages with impunity, we should hear no complaint from the World. Radical rule is no more responsible for the existence of these scoundrels than the law and its ministers are responsible for the existence of criminals generally. These Missouri cutthroats are the legacy of slavery and the Rebellion, and are eminently of the World's way of thinking in politics.

Some Words on our American Books.
UNLESS the present protection afforded to American publishers be amended so as to secure for them at least some fair attempt at competition with those of other countries, the American book will become as scarce a curiosity as the mastodon, and all works issued in a bona fide manner by American houses will be eagerly bought up at a premium by bibliomaniacs. In making a statement so comprehensive as a declaration that the entire trade of publishing is at present in danger in our country, we do not speak at random. The internal revenue, and the cost of labor and material at home, is so great that it is far cheaper to pay the tariff, and have the works imported from London. The only reason why the system has not been universally adopted by our publishing houses, is that they thought it probable that Congress would, at an early day, take some steps to remedy the evil. As it is, the reader who has purchased an American work, as he imagines, has no guarantee that such is really the case. Many houses in our city, and more especially in New York, have had their works printed in London with their imprints. The consequence is that it is impossible to tell whether what we read has been set up by Americans or Englishmen. Such is a fair statement of the case. It has deterred the smaller publishers from issuing as many works as they have formerly done at the holiday season, and has secured for some of the larger houses a sort of monopoly, which has its advantages as well as its evils.

We can get books cheaper under this system than we could have done had we been compelled to purchase American works. The public can be accommodated at reduced rates, and get a better article for their money. The question for Congress to decide is whether the printers and other hands engaged in the trade shall be sacrificed, or whether a higher price shall be charged for books. As we have always advocated protection to home industry, and as we cannot but think it would be just for years to come, merely temporary protection would be better than any other security. We advocate either an increase of the tariff, or the abolition of the internal revenue taxes, or both.

No Confirmation, No Pay.

It is probable that those office-holders who have been appointed to and are holding their positions in defiance of the Constitution—not having been confirmed by the Senate—will come to grief on their salaries by the failure of Congress to make any appropriation for them. A Democratic member from New York suggested in the House of Representatives that this would not amount to anything, as the office-holders in question would steal enough to make it up. This is complimentary to the office-holders, but the scheme will hardly work as a settled rule. Congress holds the purse of the nation, and if it cannot secure obedience to the Constitution in any other way, it must withhold the supplies.

HABEAS CORPUS FOR DR. MUDD.—Application, it is said, is about to be made to Chief Justice Chase for a writ of habeas corpus in behalf of Dr. Mudd, one of the conspirators in the assassination of the late President Lincoln, and now confined at the Dry Tortugas. As Mr. Lincoln was the Commander-in-Chief of the army and the navy, there is some doubt whether the late decision of the Supreme Court in regard to trials by military commissions covers this case.

OUR MANUFACTURING STATES.—The three great manufacturing States of the Union are New York, Pennsylvania, and Massachusetts—the value of their products, respectively, being $23,770,530, $16,864,411, $11,541,702. Ohio follows Massachusetts, and Illinois comes next.

The idea that the business of manufacturing is peculiarly that of the people of New England, is a mistaken one.

FREE SCHOOLS are to follow universal suffrage in the District of Columbia. This is also a radical measure, introduced by Thad. Stevens.

STEINWAY & SONS'

Grand Square and Upright Piano Fortes.
STEINWAY & SONS' direct special attention to their newly invented 'Upright' Pianos with their 'Patent' Recessed frame. From frame, patented June 6, 1866. This invention consists in providing the instrument (in addition to the iron frame in front of the soundboard) with an iron lace frame in the rear of it, both frames being cast in one piece. Directly over the soundboard, and in the center of the frame, is a strong, light, and easily adjustable support, which is raised and lowered by means of a screw, and which is capable of standing in tune never before attained in this class of instrument.
The soundboard is supported between the two frames by an apparatus regulating its tension so that the greatest possible degree of sound (Sunday) is obtained and regulated to the nicest desirable point. The great volume and exquisite quality of tone as well as elasticity and promptness of action, of the new Upright Pianos have elicited the unequalled admiration of the musical profession and all who have heard them.
HARIS BROTHERS confidently offer these beautiful instruments to the public and invite every lover of music to call and examine them.
Every Piano is constructed with their Patent Frame, and is supported by their Patent Frame. A large assortment of new and second-hand Pianos for sale only by HARIS BROTHERS, No. 108 CHESNUT Street.

ORGANS FOR DRAWING ROOMS.

A large portion of the musical public are unaware of the very great improvement which has been effected in recent years in the sale and use of reed instruments. The improvement which resulted in the production of the Mason & Hamlin Cabinet Organs, and the admirable effects of which they are capable, such persons had not conceived it possible that such excellent effects could be obtained from reeds. Indeed the unduly high prices of the past, and the consequent prejudice against them, is the greatest obstacle which the Mason & Hamlin Organ has to contend with.

Under these circumstances, the great success and rapid introduction of these improved instruments are among the best evidences of their intrinsic excellence. A few years since the sale and use of reed instruments was confined to such small churches and schools as, being obliged to have something, could find nothing better; and to such individuals as, from choice or necessity, limited themselves to a very moderate expenditure for a musical instrument. They were sold, not so much from their merits and art as from their low price. The improvements which resulted in the production of the Mason & Hamlin Cabinet Organs have already effected a great change in this respect, and are undoubtedly destined to work a yet greater change in the future. The time is not far distant when one of these instruments will be deemed at least as much a necessity in every household of taste and refinement as a piano-forte. The sales of the larger and more elegant styles of the Mason & Hamlin Cabinet Organs (the prices of which correspond to those of first-class piano-fortes) are increasing very rapidly; each season bringing a demand for the same styles several times as great as that of the preceding season. They are now regularly employed and decorated in the mansions of the aristocracy, and in the churches, and in the opera-houses and many first-class orchestras and concert halls, and are in constant use in the private houses of the most cultivated and best appreciated. Alone, or as an accompaniment to the voice, for sacred or secular music, as a solo instrument, or in concerted pieces with the piano-forte, violin, and violoncello, the Cabinet Organ is a most effective and effective. From its sustained tones, it is capable of adequately rendering very much music which cannot be well presented by any other one instrument, as well as of performing an important part in the execution of other instruments.

Mason & Hamlin have the honor to refer, for hearty testimony to the great improvements which have been combined in their Cabinet Organs and to the general justness of these claims in their behalf, to the most prominent artists and composers of Boston and New York, as well as other principal cities; to the most distinguished organists and pianists; to the artists, conductors, and managers of the Italian and German Operas; and to the choicest lyceum recognized highest musical proficiency, a large portion of whom are acquainted with the Mason & Hamlin Cabinet Organs and can speak advantageously as to their excellence.

Mason & Hamlin refer also, with gratification, to the fact that they have, within a few years, been awarded FIFTY-TWO GOLD OR SILVER MEDALS, or other highest premiums, for important improvements in instruments of this class, and for the superiority of their work. In all that time they have failed to receive the highest premium in but three or four instances.

But that test of the merits of these instruments which will prove most satisfactory to musical connoisseurs, and which Mason & Hamlin are, therefore, most anxious to have applied, is a careful examination and comparison of the instruments themselves. They, therefore, invite all who have any interest or curiosity in the matter to visit their warerooms, where it will always give them pleasure to exhibit their Cabinet Organs.

The amount of space on the floor occupied by one of these instruments is from 18 inches by 3 feet, to 3 feet by 5 feet; in height they are from 3 to 9 feet. They have from one to twelve stops each. Prices, $75, $90, $110, $130, $150, $170, $190, $210, $230, $250, $270, $290, $310, $330, $350, $370, $390, $410, $430, $450, $470, $490, $510, $530, $550, $570, $590,
